This book brings together contributions on current challenges in teaching English as a foreign language (EFL) in Latin America. It examines various issues related to two areas within EFL: first-in-class activities and innovative approaches focusing on the development of intercultural competence, technology-based teaching and learning practices, grammar learning and digital life, and its repercussions in English learning, second teacher education and professional development, analyzing aspects such as source-based writing skills, lingua franca and world Englishes, post-pandemic face-to-face instruction and literature in English as a foreign language, EFL teacher education programs along with studies on job satisfaction, attrition and professional identity. Specifically, the chapters provide an overview of the EFL teacher and classroom in Latin America and the demands, benefits and drawbacks observed in this sociocultural context. Each chapter also includes meaningful views from a Latin American context and contributes to the development of better EFL teaching and learning practices worldwide. This book is a useful reference for scholars, researchers and educators who focus on EFL teaching and learning at any educational level in Latin America. It is also a helpful resource for trainee teachers delving further into their fields.

This book provides a comparative perspective on foreign language teacher training in France, Germany, Russia, Ukraine and Uzbekistan. The training process of state secondary school foreign language teachers is considered from two perspectives: for each country, the current training routes through which necessary teaching qualifications are obtained are described with respect to national policy for foreign language learning, the nature of providers and training programme organization and contents, with details of any practice. These descriptive dimensions are accompanied by an evaluation of the degree to which the training fits the purpose of teaching foreign languages in state secondary schools. The descriptive and evaluative approaches to FL teacher training provide a novel overview of the current successes and challenges in the field, giving an understanding of terrains not easily accessible to the general English language readership. The book highlights elements of good practice found across nations and contributes to shedding light on the enduring mystery of why certain nations seem to be managing multilingualism better than others. As such, it provides a reference for interdisciplinary discussions between applied linguists, education researchers and practitioners and policymakers.
